TWELFTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN
FOLK-LORE SOCIETY.

THE American Folk-Lore Society met in the rooms of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., with the American Society of Naturalists and other Affiliated Societies, December 27 and 28, 1900.

On Thursday, December 27, the Affiliated Societies met in Lovering Hall, at 8 P. M. An address of welcome was given by President Gilman. Prof. Frank Russell, of Harvard University, gave an illustrated lecture on the Indians of the Southwest.

At 9.30 P. M., in McCoy Hall, a reception was given by the Johns Hopkins University to the Affiliated Societies and guests.

On Friday, December 28, the Council met at 10 A. M.

At 11 A. M., in Donovan Hall, the Society met for business, the President, Dr. Franz Boas, in the chair.

The Secretary presented the report of the Council.

The number of Annual Members, according to the Secretary's roll (printed in No. 51 of the Journal of American Folk-Lore, October-December, 1900), was reported as 336.

The income received from yearly fees being obviously inadequate to the extensive tasks imposed on an American Folk-Lore Society, increase of the membership becomes the first duty of persons interested in the welfare of the Society. Experience has shown that this can be most easily accomplished by some form of local organization. The Council has, therefore, decided to appoint in the several states of the Union, and in the provinces of the Dominion of Canada, local or state secretaries, who may represent the Society. In many states of the Union the Society is at present entirely unrepresented; it ought not to be difficult to obtain in each state the accession of a certain number of members. Where possible, these Secretaries might organize local groups, or provide for occasional meetings, at which addresses might be made. Members of the Society interested in such development are requested to address the Permanent Secretary.

During the year 1900 no volume of the Memoirs has been issued, the sum now in hand properly to be credited to the Publication Fund not having been sufficient for such issue. It is expected that the series will be continued by volumes as creditable to the Society as those already published, and such a volume will probably appear in the course of the current year.

The issue of the Journal of American Folk-Lore has continued regularly.

At a past Annual Meeting, a committee on Music was appointed, with a view to the promotion of the collection and study of folk-music, more especially to that of the negroes in the Southern States. The pressing necessity of such collection has been repeatedly urged ; but no active steps have been taken by the committee, owing to the absence of funds available for the carrying on of this work in the only advantageous manner, namely, by the employment of skilled musicians for the purpose of travel and research. If the end is to be achieved, the task can no longer be delayed ; it would appear impossible that an appeal could be made to the generosity of the American people without obtaining an adequate response. It is expected that at the next annual meeting a more satisfactory report may be made on this head. Members of the Society, and others who take an especial interest in this task, are requested to address the Chairman of the Committee.
